Canada Tells UN Drug Traffic Soaring Higher

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Statements of drug abuse and drug trafficking were not limited to North America—whose problem probably is the most publicized in the world. Speakers told of amphetamines from Italy reaching as far north as Sweden and as far south as central Africa. The Interpol spokesman said that 54 million tablets of amphetamines were discovered in Nigeria in three seizures. An American spokesman showed that his country's problem is enormous. He said despite stringent law enforcement measures and a considerable number of drug seizures, the illicit traffic is growing at an accelerated pace. He said the flow of heroin into the U.S. increased to 5,500 kilograms in 1970 from 3,800 in 1965. Recent seizures have indicated a trend of alarming proportions. In the 12 months before July, 1971, there were two seizures by U.S. authorities totaling 154 kilograms of heroin. But in last August alone 341 kilograms were seized and in September 178 kilograms. In 1969 54 kilograms of cocaine were seized. This year the figure already was 237.7 kilograms. A kilogram equals 2.205 pounds. He said that the increased figures might indicate more effective police work, but they also indicate a larger traffic.

The statements were made by R. D. Auger, Canadian delegate on the commission which is meeting in Geneva. UN reports of the meeting were made available here. Auger also said it is obvious that an effort should be made to control the supply of illicit drugs. The Canadian interjection was one of many made at the two-day meeting which showed the worldwide scope of the illicit drug problem and indicated that a number of countries are doing about it—for instance the execution by Iran of more than 100 traffickers. A spokesman for Interpol, the international police organization, told the meeting that there must be co-ordination of anti-drug activities on a worldwide level. He said the drug traffic was such that 35 per cent of all information on criminal activities received by Interpol concerned drugs. Last year the agency circulated more than 4,000 identities of traffickers to countries.

France Now Starts Action

There had been a change in smuggling practices from small quantities carried by individuals to large bulk shipments involving cars and private planes used by organized criminal enterprises. The U.S. was employing greater resources and more manpower than ever before in the fight against drug traffic. The picture that emerged from the speeches was one of growing of drugs as far away as the Indian subcontinent and findings its way through processing factories in France to Europe and North America. France, which for years showed little concern over drugs, most of which passed over its borders on the way to some other country, admitted at the meeting that it now has become a consumer country and that it is cracking down harder than before. It admitted that morphine from Turkey, the Middle East and North Africa is processed in the Marseilles area before being shipped to Canada and the United States.

MORE CO-OPERATION

It said that there is improved co-operation with Canadian and American authorities and those of France. A spokesman for the Pan-Arab Bureau of Narcotics said Lebanon was once considered the principle source of illicit drugs. But now hashish from Afghanistan and Pakistan had started to flow into the Middle East and some of it found its way to North America.

He called for international help so that Lebanon could initiate a "green plan" under which the government could subsidize farmers switching from growing drug producing plants to other crops. Lebanon inserted a rather pathetic note. It said that since its hashish is regarded as the best in the world, all traffickers arrested claim that their drugs had originated in Lebanon. The delegate said this is the reason why Lebanon was supposed to be the main source of hashish in the illegal market. The Iranian delegate said that while the illicit drug traffic remains disquieting he feels the fact that the death penalty awaits traffickers will bring about a reduction. Iran had executed at least 100 traffickers so far.

U.S. Denies Memo Sent To Canada

WASHINGTON (CP) — A treasury department spokesman denied today that the department had prepared a purported memo listing a series of tough demands that Canada must meet before the U.S. will lift the 10-per-cent additional levy on dutiable imports. He also agreed with a state department spokesman who said earlier that "the United States has not proposed to the Canadian government any set of conditions" for the lifting of the import surtax announced Aug. 15. They were commenting on a weekend Chicago Tribune story reporting the existence of a detailed, point-by-point list of U.S. demands. But the story did not say from what level of government the memorandum came or whether these were just recommendations or final demands. Both the state and treasury spokesmen said that although there were a number of staff reports and working papers on the subject of U.S.-Canada trade relations, they had not seen a memo along the lines described.

Lufthansa Adamant

COLOGNE (Reuter) — Lufthansa, the West German airline, said today it is sticking to its proposals for substantially cheaper fares over the North Atlantic. The carrier was responding to reports that it might be prepared to enter negotiations for a new fare schedule higher than that which it and others plan to implement early next year. Last month Lufthansa announced lower North Atlantic fares, effective Feb. 1, 1972, that are expected to be matched by all its competitors.

However, a spokesman for Lufthansa conceded the possibility, rumored in New York, that the International Air Transport Association will hold a new meeting in Europe later this month to renegotiate a higher Atlantic fare schedule before the general IATA meeting set for Honolulu in December. He said Lufthansa, as an IATA member, would attend such a meeting with an open mind.

THEY WERE LEFT UP IN AIR

NEW YORK (AP) — Nick Gialdella and Frank Ribundo weren't planning to hang around after work. But when their fellow construction workers quit for the day Monday, they forgot about the pair and shut off the electric power to their scaffold. So there were Gialdella and Ribundo stuck on an immobile platform at the 13th-floor level of a building under construction in midtown Manhattan. After shouting into the wind for a couple of hours, the stranded twosome got the attention of a passerby who summoned firemen to the rescue.

Accountants Admit Guilt

SUMMERSIDE, P.E.I. (CP) — Two young accountants pleaded guilty Tuesday to theft of over $50 from the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce branch here. Archibald MacLeod, 28, and William MacDonald, 29, both of Summerside, were released on $10,000 bail each after they entered their plea in magistrate's court. They will appear again Friday when the Crown and defence present arguments. They will be sentenced Oct. 19. The two men surrendered to police here last week. They had been sought since Sept. 9 after the theft of $414,000 from the bank. Authorities say most of the money has been recovered. It was the biggest theft in Prince Edward Island history.

The highest traffic toll for a Thanksgiving weekend was in 1966 when 109 persons died. Last year, there were 56 killed on the roads.

Bound Body Found In Lake At Caesar's Landing Wharf

A 20-year-old Westbank man was remanded to Oct. 18 when he appeared in court here Monday on a charge of non-capital murder.

Allan George Foster, 20, of the Paradise Auto Court, was charged after the body of Gwen Ann Linger, 18, also of Westbank, was found bound Sunday afternoon in about 20 feet of water at the end of an old wharf at Caesar's Landing, on the west shore. An autopsy was done on the body this morning. Details were not available at press time.

Miss Linger had been missing since Saturday. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Fleming of Peachland.

She had been living in Westbank with a friend, Jennifer Beet, and working in Kelowna. Mr. Foster is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Foster of Westbank.

The body had apparently been tied with a chain and pushed from the abandoned wharf. Caesar's Landing is a remote place about 18 miles west of Westbank on the Westside Road.

Pirates Make Major Comeback And Fleece Orioles By 5-1

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Steve Blass' three-hit pitching and Bob Robertson's three-run homer keyed Pittsburgh Pirates to a 5-1 victory over Baltimore Orioles Tuesday in the third game of baseball's World Series. Baltimore leads the best-of-seven series 2-1 in games.

Blass, unmercifully shelled in the National League playoffs, turned Baltimore's lethal bats into toothpicks with his brilliant pitching to give the Pirates their first Series triumph over the Orioles.

The defeat ended an amazing 16-game winning streak put together by the defending champion Orioles who won 11 games at the end of the regular season, three consecutive playoffs and the first two series games.

Dave Cash scored Pittsburgh's first run, Jose Pagan drove in the second and Robertson brought in the others with his homer.

But the day belonged to Blass as the Pirates pulled back into contention after two defeats at Baltimore.

The vote was taken after proposals from the commission management and the provincial government, were presented to the striking employees.

Proposal For Two-Chinas In UN Believed Facing Uphill Battle

UNITED NATIONS (Reuter) — Important members of the U.S. Congress, which has the power to withhold funds from the United Nations, are threatening to use that power if Taiwan is expelled from the General Assembly to seat Peking.

The crucial debate on Chinese representation opens next Monday, and many delegates believe the U.S. plan for dual representation of the People's Republic of China and Taiwan faces an uphill battle.

U.S. Ambassador George Bush is to hold talks today with Republican Senator Robert Taft of Ohio on the problem.

Monday he met conservative Senator James Buckley, who said after the meeting that he and 20 other senators would move immediately for a "dramatic reduction" in American funds to the United Nations should Taiwan be expelled.

He denied to reporters that this would in any way be punitive. Rather, he said: "It would reflect in our judgment the downgrading of the role of the United Nations which would result from its abandonment of principles in order to allow the entry of Peking on Peking's terms."

WOULD RESIST PRESSURE Some sources said they believed the intervention of legislators at this time could make the American delegation's task more difficult, because no country would want to appear responsive to pressure.

A delegation spokesman, Nicholas King, denied that any pressure or blackmail was involved. He said congressional figures had the right to express their views, and that their visits to New York in the week before the debate were not initiated by the delegation.

The U.S. contributes about one-third of the budget of $900 million for all UN activities, on the basis of assessments arrived at according to the gross national product of member states.

Nixon To Visit Moscow After Meeting In China

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today he will take part in a summit meeting in Moscow in the latter part of May after his China trip because there is a climate now for making some progress on mutual problems.

The announcement was made jointly here and in Moscow, Nixon said.

Nixon said the aim was for "better relations" between the United States and the Soviet Union. Any speculation this visit and the one to China were planned to affect each other any way "would be entirely inaccurate," he said.

The summit meeting was set for May, Nixon said at a White House news conference, because it was agreed with Soviet leaders that there was a basis for an agenda in which there was a possibility "of making significant progress" by a meeting and by discussions "at the highest level."

Nixon said he expects to meet with Communist party Chairman Leonid Brezhnev and also with other Soviet leaders, including Premier Alexei Kosygin and President Nikolai Podgorniy.

State Secretary William P. Rogers and national security adviser Henry A. Kissinger will accompany him on the trip. The president emphasized that he would take along only a "small working group" and that it would in no way be a ceremonial visit.

Nixon said Southeast Asia would be among topics on the agenda and added: "We are proceeding to end American involvement in Vietnam. We trust we will have accomplished that goal or have made significant progress by the time of this meeting."

But "the American presence will be maintained to meet the objectives I have spelled out," including the release of American prisoners of war.

Nixon said the move to a summit meeting was made possible primarily by the recent agreement with the Soviet Union on Berlin. The Berlin agreement "led us to believe now was the time for a summit meeting."

He said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko personally extended an invitation for the meeting when he came to the White House last week from the United Nations session.

Nixon said the NATO allies and Japan were informed in advance of the planned meeting. Nixon took over the regular morning briefing of his press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, to make the announcement. He would not speculate on the exact agenda for the talks, but he said it would also include the Middle East, and any "unfinished business."

Cardinal Suenens also criticized the long papal delay in allowing discussion of the problem. Fishermen Forced Out

PETERSBURG, Alaska (AP) — Fishermen of southeastern Alaska have told a U.S. Senate subcommittee that many are being forced to quit and some won't fish next year. The fishermen subcommittee heard testimony during the weekend from fish buyers and packers as well as fishermen. R. A. Littlefield, president of the Halibut Association of North America, a group of buyers, said that although North Pacific halibut buyers no longer accept fish weighing more than 100 pounds because of possible mercury contamination, "there is no chance of anyone getting sick" from eating them. New mercury standards should allow consumption and sale of entire lots of halibut if the average mercury level is below 5 parts per million, and records show most halibut caught in the North Pacific are well below that level, he said. "The amount of halibut involved over tolerance levels is so small that there is no possibility of anyone getting sick from eating too much halibut," Littlefield said. He told the committee that the fact that the industry won't accept fish over 100 pounds is forcing fishermen out of business because they must discard larger fish, and prices have risen, dropped while costs have risen.

Aril Mathisen, president of the Petersburg Fishing Vessel Owners' Association, said the industry should follow the Canadian practice of averaging mercury content of an entire load. Mathisen said new restrictions had cost him one fishing trip during the season. Edward Johnson, a Juneau packer, said that although the season lasts until Nov. 1, most fishermen in the Angoon and Hoonah fleets have quit for the year.

After the meeting resumed Monday night at a meeting called by Premier William Davis, it was attended by A. T. McNab, deputy minister of transportation and communications. After the meeting had proceeded two hours, Mr. McNab issued a brief statement: "We feel that progress has been made to the point that we have made proposals that the union officials are going to take to their membership immediately for ratification." Then the meeting resumed late Monday night. Railway transportation throughout the resource industry belt from North Bay to Cochrane and the rail line to Moosonee has been tied up by the walkout. It also has disrupted telephone service. Late last week more than 1,200 employees were laid off at a newsprint mill and an iron mine because it was impossible to ship products south to markets.

BRIDGE WINNERS

Kelowna Captures 3 Bridge Events

Kelowna bridge players rated tops during the weekend in several events in the largest Okanagan Unit Sectional of the American Contract Bridge League ever held here. D. L. Purcell and A. G. Hampson of Kelowna topped the men's pairs; Mrs. J. D. McClymont and Mrs. W. MacKenzie won the Skaha pairs and R. G. Phelps and C. W. Wilkinson were high in open pairs consolation.

Among the total of 502 tables, an increase of 112 over last year's record attendance, were visiting players from five states, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Arizona and California. Many prairie points including Winnipeg were represented, as well as all parts of British Columbia, the Island and the coast.

In addition to top spots, many local players were runners-up. In the top event of the four-day tourney which started Friday, an Okanagan team consisting of W. Hepperle, G. Hepperle, Summerland, and Sharon Wilkinson and Shirley Purcell of Kelowna were just barely edged out of the number one spot in a photo finish in the Swiss teams.

Mrs. M. Holmes and Mrs. L. Andreev of Kelowna won second place in the women's pairs; F. Evans and Morris Diamond were second in the Skaha pairs and D. L. Purcell and A. G. Hampson of Kelowna were second in the open pairs.

Hospitality arrangements were again rated excellent by the visitors who enjoyed the baskets of Okanagan fruit and apple juice which greeted them on arrival in their hotel rooms. A get-acquainted wine and cheese party Friday evening was thoroughly enjoyed. Corsages were presented to all ladies and a poolside hospitality room was appreciated by all. A Chef's Special party Sunday night completed the social events.

Players were welcomed by Unit president, Mrs. Roy Vanatter during the evening banquet and officers were introduced, vice-president N. F. Brooks of Oliver; secretary-treasurer, Morris Diamond; tournament chairman, R. V. Thomas and co-hostesses, Mrs. R. A. Jemson and Mrs. R. H. Bowman.

Winners were as follows: Women's Pairs (60 pairs)—Lillian Goodwin, Thelma Kersey, Victoria; Mrs. M. Holmes, Mrs. L. Andreev, Kelowna; Myrtle Damm, Van Nuys, Cal.; Mrs. G. Eggers, Spokane.

Men's Pairs (42 pairs)—D. L. Purcell, A. G. Hampson, Kelowna; Don Booker, Quesnel; Hugh Hanrieder, Prince George; W. R. Worsfold, R. Filand, Kamloops; F. W. Brodie, Penticton; H. Gravette, Calgary.

Mixed Pairs (106 pairs)—Ralph and Bertha Purves, Vancouver; John Whillis, Kelowna; Mrs. M. A. Hargy, Spokane; Rosemary Herget, Fairchild, Grey, B.C.

Prach Bowl Pairs (30 pairs)—Mrs. Perry Landwehr, Mrs. C. Bower, Trail; J. Anthony, Vancouver; Gerry McIlly, Kamloops; Dora Duprau, Molly Collins, Victoria.

FORESTRY REPORTS

Kamloops Area Had 1,246 Fires

Despite an overall increase in the cost of forest fires so far in 1971 in the province, the Kamloops Forest District showed a record of fires this year almost one half as serious as in 1970.

With the fire hazard season diminishing towards winter, figures released by the British Columbia Forest Service showed fires in the Kamloops district cost $2,625,400 to fight compared with a 1970 comparative figure of $4,412,400.

To date in 1971 there have been 1,246 fires in the Kamloops district compared with a corresponding 1970 total of 2,118.

The present situation shows the fire hazard rating in most of the province is low except for the Kamloops district where it has been rated as low to moderate.

Provincially, the report showed fires were more numerous in 1970—3,975 compared with 1971's 2,893, but costs of fires in 1971 exceeded that of 1970—$9,702,900 compared with $8,875,700.

Approximately 878,000 acres of forest burned this year in the province. The Vancouver district reported 340 fires at a cost of $360,500 compared with a 1970 total of 509 at $975,000.

The Prince Rupert district fought 224 fires costing $359,700 compared with 132 at $197,100 in 1970.

Prince George reported 547 fires this year at a cost of $3,496,300 compared with 1970 figures of 397 fires at $1,735,200.

The Nelson district reported 536 fires at a cost of $2,881,000 compared with 819 fires in 1970 at a cost of $1,556,000.

Fires are still burning in the province. Three broke out this week at an estimated cost of $131,700. Still burning from previous weeks are 23 fires.

The reduction in fires has been due to a continuance of cool, moist weather in most of the province.

Auto Overtakes In Creek Driver Freed By Two Men

Two RR 2 Kelowna residents were chiefly responsible early Sunday in freeing a man from his car when it overturned in a creek on Highway 97, near Westbank.

The incident was one of several accidents investigated by police during the Thanksgiving weekend.

The creek incident occurred at 1:15 a.m. Sunday when a car driven by Daniel William Faulkner of Rutland went out of control and overturned in a creek.

The two residents, Pat Cox and Ken Hellyer, near the scene at the time waded into the creek avoiding gasoline leaking from the car. They freed Mr. Faulkner from the vehicle. The driver was uninjured except for a cut lip.

Mr. Faulkner's car sustained $500 damage. The rash of accidents began Friday that lasted the entire weekend.

Approximately $400 damage was the result of a single vehicle mishap on Valley Road near Eagle Drive Friday at 11:30 p.m. Driver of the vehicle was Norman Alfred Smith of Kelowna.

Three drivers were uninjured at 7:45 a.m. Saturday when the vehicles they were driving came into collision at the junction of Highway 97 and 33.

Drivers were Walter Clark McMeeken of Kelowna, Raymond Fox of Penticton and Emil Stachniak of Kelowna. Damage was estimated at $3,500.

Edward Stewart Ford of Kelowna escaped injury Saturday at 7:30 p.m. when his car went out of control on Valley Road. Damage was estimated at $200.

George Daniel Murphy of RR 4 Kelowna was uninjured when his vehicle went out of control on DeHart Road Sunday at four p.m. Damage was estimated at $100.

A two vehicle collision at the intersection of Highway 97 and Reid's Corner resulted in approximately $250 damage. Both drivers, Katherine Savinoff of Kamloops and Allan Schley of Vernon, were not injured.

A Kelowna man was treated and released from Kelowna General Hospital this weekend when his boat sank in the waters adjacent to Okanagan Centre.

The man, Bernard Smit, was rescued by residents of Okanagan Centre after being in the water approximately an hour and a half.

Police had no further details on the incident.

Boundary Extension Forum Set For Theatre Tonight

The Orchard Park boundary extension question will be discussed at a public meeting at 8 p.m. tonight in the Kelowna Community Theatre.

The meeting is being arranged by Kelowna Chamber of Commerce to provide information for the vote by ratepayers Oct. 20.

City council unanimously agreed to ask the provincial government to permit extending the city boundaries to include the shopping centre on Highway 97 N, recently opened by Marathon Realty Ltd. and Canada Safeway Ltd. This followed long negotiations with the companies.

Former alderman E. R. Winter organized a petition. When more than 10 per cent of city ratepayers signed, council was forced to hold a vote. It was decided not to wait until the city elections in December.

The chamber has not taken any position on the matter. Director L. T. Salloum, who will be master of ceremonies, said anyone wishing to make a statement for or against the matter will be allowed to use the platform. Microphones will be placed on the floor so people can ask questions.

Ald. William Kane, a member of the city council negotiating committee, and Mr. Winter have explained their positions to various city groups recently.

This is the second forum sponsored by the chamber this year. The first at Easter discussed a proposal to erect a building in the park.

A 60 per cent majority is needed to carry the vote.

...Cloudy

Cloudy skies with brief sunny intervals will continue to prevail Wednesday. The high-low today will be 65-40, with a high of 65 Wednesday. The high Monday was 68, with a low of 41 and a trace of precipitation. The high-low at the airport was 68-36, with no precipitation.

Labor Shortage In Oliver Area

A farm labor shortage in a number of Okanagan areas is reported by Canada Manpower.

"The most serious current labor shortage is in the Oliver area where apple, grape and tomato pickers are urgently required," said farm labor co-ordinator J. L. Callewaert in his weekly report.

"A shortage of experienced apple pickers is also reported from the Creston area."

He said the harvesting of Golden Delicious, Red Delicious and Spartan apples, grapes, ripe tomatoes and D'anjou pears is currently fully under way in most areas of the Okanagan.

BREAK-INS
Police are investigating two break-ins reported during the weekend. Liquor was reported taken Saturday from the Elks' Hall in Rutland. Ken Smith of 265 Lawrence Avenue reported a breaking there Monday morning.

Okanagan Lake Study Outlined

Dr. S. O. Russell of the civil engineering department, University of British Columbia, has been retained by the B.C. water investigations branch to carry out water quantity modelling studies on Okanagan Lake. This is part of the provincial-federal study.

With modern large computers, it is possible to handle enormous amounts of data and simulate by mathematical equations such things as the flow of water. Computations which, by hand, would take years to complete and would have been prone to mathematical errors can now be done accurately by computers in a matter of seconds.

QUANTITY MODELLING

Okanagan Lake Study Outlined

The Okanagan modelling is split into three phases. The first one involves the use of recorded data on water levels in Okanagan Lake. This is the Okanagan River, upstream of the falls in the tributaries, danger of flooding in some years unless good forecasts are available. Each spring the operators are faced with a dilemma. Should they draw down the lake to provide space to accommodate a potential flood but risk a shortage of water should the flood fail to materialize; or should they hold the lake level high to ensure a plentiful supply of water during the following summer but risk a flood?

If there is no inflow it takes about a month to lower Okanagan Lake by one foot by releasing the maximum discharge at Penticton, but an even flow sufficient to raise Okanagan Lake level by four feet can occur in one month in the spring. Obviously, therefore, the more accurate the forecast and the longer the lead time the better chance the operators have of minimizing waste and of minimizing the loss of harvest.

B.C. Fruit Shipped To U.S. While Analysis Being Made

B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. is continuing to ship fruit to the United States while an analysis is being made of a federal promise to help make up losses caused by the recent 10 per cent U.S. surtax.

Federal agriculture minister Bud Olson said aid would be provided to producers and distributors of unprocessed agricultural products.

Ian Greenwood, BCTF manager, said he is waiting for a report. In the Okanagan-Similkameen region, harvesting V and chingstone peaches finished Sept. 24, the latest in recent years.

A light crop of McIntosh apples has been picked. Prunes, Anjou pears, spartan and red delicious apples are being picked.

The Anjou drop is reported the heaviest in some years. These pears are small in some orchards. Anjou pit, a disease prevalent in 1970 and 1969, is almost entirely absent.

Apple color is generally good. Medium-sized fruit is expected to predominate.

Some peaches have not been sold. Trees are starting to drop leaves. The Elberta crop exceeded the estimate because of large fruit. The late prune crop was heavy and of good quality.

The grape crop is expected to be 10,000 tons, and quality good. Harvesting is progressing steadily. Frost in September, 1970, and poor setting weather last spring, reduced production. A grape production survey is being conducted.

A case of grape phylloxera was confirmed on the west side of Okanagan Lake, and two other cases were since found. Vineyards are being placed under quarantine to keep pest from being spread. This pest is believed to have been carried to B.C. in Ontario nursery stock in 1967.

Police Recover Stolen Boat; Chain Foils Attempted Theft

Police are investigating boat thefts and an attempted boat theft from Abbott Street residences Sunday.

A 17-foot outboard boat owned by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gies, 3020 Abbott Street, was discovered missing by Mrs. Gies Sunday, and, according to Mrs. Gies, might have been missing since Saturday night.

However, police recovered the boat Monday after some young boys discovered it beached on a public beach on the other side of Okanagan Lake.

"There was a gas tank missing," Mrs. Gies said. "And the battery wouldn't turn over, but we don't know if there was any other damage."

Ron Wade, 3060 Abbott Street, reported to police Sunday an attempt to steal his fiberglass cruiser at about 2 a.m. that day.

Mr. Wade told RCMP that he heard voices and investigated but saw nobody.

In the morning he examined his boat, which was moored about 30 feet out in the lake, and found the canvas top had been ripped off, several small items damaged and an oar stolen.

He also found an extra gas tank, presumably stolen, left in the boat.

"The attempt was apparently foiled by the chain and padlocks securing the boat to the mooring," said Mr. Wade, who had previously had a $400 engine stolen.

SEEN and HEARD

The poolside hospitality room provided by the Okanagan Unit who hosted the sectional tournament of the American Bridge Contract League here during the weekend, served a dual purpose. The premises at Capri were so overtaxed with the record attendance that Henry Smith of Vancouver, a top official in the Canadian Bridge Federation, had to spend the first two nights there before he could book accommodation in the city.

Donations to the annual Central Okanagan Community Chest drive have totalled $29,000. Money can be left at stores in the area or mailed to the chest office in Kelowna.

James Spall Buried Today
Funeral services were held this afternoon in St. Michael and All Angels Anglican Church for James Spall, pioneer Kelowna area resident who died Friday.

Mr. Spall was born in Suffolk, England, March 20, 1890. In addition to one son and five daughters listed Saturday, another daughter, Mrs. Stanley Leeming, resides in Richmond.

Mr. Spall helped form the CCP party here. A few years ago this became the New Democratic Party.

Two Funerals On Wednesday

MRS. EMIL KRAMPITZ
Funeral services will be held from Day's Chapel of Remembrance Wednesday at 2 p.m. for Mrs. Emil Krampitz, 74, of 755 Kingsway, who died Monday.

Surviving Mrs. Krampitz are her husband; one daughter, Melita (Millie) Bryde of Kelowna; five grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

She was predeceased by one daughter, Alma Bammie.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. L. H. Liske with interment to follow in the Kelowna Cemetery.

GEORGE DOLLARD DUGUAY
Funeral services for George Dollard Duguay of Kelowna will be held from Day's Chapel of Remembrance Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. Mr. Duguay died Saturday at the age of 83.

Surviving are one son, Herbert, of Kelowna, one granddaughter and several nieces and nephews. He was predeceased in 1965 by his wife.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. John Davidson with interment to follow in the Kelowna Cemetery.

MORE PARKING SPACE
The former Malkin building at Water Street and Smith Avenue is being demolished to make more parking space. The building was occupied by a grocery distributing company. It is near the Kelowna Yacht Club parking lot, where a centre for senior citizens is to be erected. More parking will also be provided in this area when the lease of land to Crown Zellerbach (Canada) expires next year. (Courier photo.)

Putting A Little Fire In Marriage Doesn't Help

Marriage counsellors have sometimes recommended putting a little 'fire' in your marriage by doing the unexpected, by being more thoughtful, or by treating your spouse as you did during the engagement period.

But recently, and ironically during Fire Prevention Week, October 3-9, Paul and Wendy Chapman of Sheffield, England, quite literally put a little fire in their marriage when their honeymoon got off to a sizzling start—their bed caught fire on their wedding night.

Fortunately, Paul and Wendy escaped injury, after Paul had fallen asleep with a lighted cigarette in his hand and the mattress caught fire.

Not so fortunate were 2,385 men, 1,252 women and 2,329 children whose lives were snuffed out in fires between 1959-1968. The monetary loss caused by fires in 1970 is estimated to be 203 million dollars.

While some fires are accidental, the vast majority are caused by sins of omission or commission. Failure to keep homes and business premises free of combustibles, inadequate or faulty wiring, overloading heating plants, careless smoking; these all contribute to the toll in lives and property.

Most tragic are the instances of children playing with matches and turning themselves into flaming torches. The First World War had a well-known song which had a line in it that appealed to the people on the home front to "keep the home fires burning" till the boys came home.

Lets not imitate Paul and Wendy Chapman and take advice literally. "Keep the Home Free of Fires" for the family to come home to!

Fire is a killer—don't you be an accomplice to murder!

WASHINGTON WILLIAM TELL

There's No Ottawa 'In-Crowd' Favored By Prime Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—Some of the most misleading political gossip out of Ottawa, say sources close to Prime Minister Trudeau, involves the so-called "in" group of cabinet ministers.

"After three years here," says one Trudeau aide, "I still couldn't name any group of cabinet ministers who are consistently more influential with the prime minister than any other group."

From the moment Mr. Trudeau became prime minister in 1968, there have been countless stories about cabinet ministers who allegedly influence him more than others. These stories are invariably coupled with growth of the prime minister's own staff—about which there is no argument—and how decisions have been shifting more and more to non-elected hands.

There are some cabinet ministers who will argue strongly against this last contention as a myth.

"There are a lot of intelligent people in the prime minister's office who have ideas of their own," says one senior cabinet minister. "But it's nonsense to suggest that all decisions come from that office."

"What we do get from them is a lot more intelligent argument. I guess you could say it keeps us on the ball."

RESENT REPORTS

There is strong resentment in the cabinet over stories that real power is wielded by a handful of "in" cabinet ministers and a group of prime ministerial employees. There is no doubt that the growth of the prime ministerial staff—from 12 to 60-odd in the last four years —has made it a formidable force.

But several cabinet ministers who talked about this argued strongly that the major decisions are still made by the entire cabinet.

"But what I won't argue against," said one, "is the proposition that the prime minister himself exercises immense influence. And there is no doubt that he gets a lot of opinions from advisers in his own office."

The alleged cast of the prime minister's "in" group of cabinet ministers changes from time to time depending on who is talking but it invariably includes Regional Expansion Minister Jean Marchand and State Secretary Gerard Pelletier along with most ministers who supported Mr. Trudeau in his leadership campaign.

One recent account said Mr. Marchand and Mr. Pelletier see the prime minister every day. "There is no doubt that these men are close colleagues of the prime minister," said an aide, "but it's simply not true that they have daily consultations with the prime minister."

"And, like other ministers, I have often seen these two men come out of the prime minister's office with disappointed faces."

REFLECTS ISSUES

Aides say the influence of particular cabinet ministers reflects current issues. Recently, for example, Trudeau has been spending the most time with Finance Minister Edgar Benson and Trade Minister Jean-Luc Peplin in discussions on economic questions raised by the U.S. surcharge. He has seen a lot of Otto Lanz, minister responsible for the Canadian wheat board, and Agriculture Minister H. A. Olson for talks on the controversial prairie farm stabilization bill.

It follows, say the aides, that Mr. Trudeau doesn't require frequent consultations with such ministers as Postmaster-General Jean-Pierre Côté or Veterans Affairs Minister Jean-Eudes Dube.

Asked what minister he would work through if he had to get the prime minister's ear, one aide said it would depend entirely on the issues at hand.

Then after a moment, he added: "I guess as a general rule Marchand or Pelletier would be pretty good bets."

TODAY IN HISTORY BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Oct. 12, 1971...

Christopher Columbus discovered the Bahamas Islands, 300 to 400 miles from the mainland of America, 479 years ago today—in 1492. The land was actually sighted just before dawn and the occasion was marked by a cannon shot from the deck of the Pinta, one of Columbus's three vessels. He took possession of the islands in the name of King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella.

1956—The Fowler commission on broadcasting ended its public hearings.

1936—Britain, France and the United States announced a new type of gold standard.

1931—Peter I was proclaimed king of Yugoslavia.

1945—Edith Cavell, the British nurse, was executed by the Germans for being a spy in the First World War.

1883—B.C. Regiment (Duke of Connaught's Own) was organized as the B.C. Provisional Regiment of Garrison Artillery.

1860—A. A. Spry, inventor of the gyroscope flying instruments, was born.

1822—Don Pedro was proclaimed constitutional monarch of Brazil.

Science For The Driver

If the widespread use of catchy slogans hasn't convinced people to go easy on drinking if they must drive afterward, perhaps a moderate dose of scientific data might do the trick, says the B.C. Automobile Association.

Although alcohol also affects reaction time, co-ordination and emotional behavior, BCAA has pinpointed vision because of its findings that 85 to 90 per cent of the information drivers receive about the traffic scene comes from the eyes. "Without a clear picture," says the auto club, "accident-free driving is impossible."

While everyone concedes the generalization that alcohol affects vision, what may startle the layman is the variety of ways in which it does so.

Since alcohol reduces voluntary control over all muscles, its effect on the fine discrete muscles that move and focus the eyes is particularly strong.

One of these muscles, the ciliary muscle surrounding the lens, brings near and far objects into sharp focus. When it is relaxed by alcohol, there is a distortion of light rays on the retina that interferes with the neural impulses sent to the brain. The result: a faulty and fuzzy picture of the traffic scene.

Six muscles attached to each eye direct both eyes to the same spot at the same time. Double vision occurs when alcohol relaxes these muscles. Two driving hazards are then involved:

If the image from one eye is weaker, it will be ignored and poor depth perception will result. If both images are interpreted by the brain, the driver may see two sets of headlights approaching and won't know which to ignore.

It normally takes seven seconds after exposure to headlight glare for the eye's pupil to again adapt to dark conditions, but this recovery condition becomes increasingly slower in direct ratio to the amount of alcohol imbibed. BCAA says this may be a prime reason for the higher incidence of nighttime accidents.

Alcohol can sharply reduce both black and white and color perception. The retina of the eye contains millions of nerve fibres that send impulses to the brain. Fibres called rods transmit light and dark, fibres called cones transmit color.

When alcohol reduces the supply of oxygen in the bloodstream, the sensitivity of these fibres is impaired.

The auto club points out that alcohol also affects the ability to judge distances, so vital to such driving manoeuvres as crossing lanes, passing and parking.

It also reduces peripheral vision, necessary for moving through intersections or past parked cars when pedestrians may suddenly appear. BCAA cited a study by the British Medical Research Council revealing that the score on a field of vision test fell 30 per cent with a blood alcohol concentration as low as .055 per cent.

Finally, some drivers who drink become victims of a dangerous condition called nystagmus—the uncontrolled, rapid oscillation of the eyeballs. When this occurs, clear vision is virtually impossible.

When drinking is linked to traffic accidents, most people think of the driver. But the BCAA says the pedestrian is also heavily involved in the reliable estimate that alcohol is a major factor in at least half of all fatal car crashes. He, too, must receive a clear picture of the traffic scene in order to make the proper mental and physical responses to crossing or walking along the roadway.

CANADA'S STORY

William IV Rare Among Monarchs

By BOB BOWMAN

When Canada was a French and then British colony, ruling monarchs weren't inclined to be humble. William IV was an example.

As a young sea captain, he had been a playboy in Halifax, Quebec, Montreal, and other British North American ports.

But when he became King in 1830, he thought he alone knew how Canada should be governed and would not consider demands for reform. He said: "By God, I will never consent to alienate the Crown lands or to make the council elective." This attitude led to the rebellions in Upper and Lower Canada in 1837.

Earlier in history, when Canada was a French colony, Count Frontenac had been governor from 1672 to 1682, but was recalled by King Louis XIV because he quarrelled with Bishop Laval of Quebec. In the next seven years, there was a succession of governors who were failures. The French abandoned their forts on Niagara, present-day Kingston, massed Lac Beauport and other settlements, and the country was in a panic. The prestige of France fell very low in the eyes of the Indians.

Louis XIV realized he had made a mistake and became very humble for a king. He asked Frontenac if he would return to Canada as co-ordinator and said: "I send you back to New France where I expect you will serve me as well as you did before. I ask for nothing more."

Frontenac arrived at Quebec on Oct. 12, 1689, for his second term, and did a magnificent job pulling the country together and raising the morale of the citizens. One year later, he easily repulsed a strong force from New England that tried to capture Quebec. He died there in 1698.

Other Oct. 12 events:

1710—Port Royal surrendered to New England forces.

1907—Canadian government agreed to pay Japanese in Vancouver for damage caused by anti-Japanese riot.

1912—Pupils of school in Garneau, Ont., walked out when an English-speaking teacher appeared.

1917—Prime Minister Sir Robert Borden formed coalition government.

1937—Toronto school reopened after six weeks closure due to polio.

1957—Hon. Lester B. Pearson was awarded Nobel Peace Prize; Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip arrived for visit.

1960—Prime Minister Diefenbaker opened new bridge at Prince Albert, Sask.

CAPITAL COMMENT

Are Trudeau's Men More Secretive?

By FARMER TISSINGTON

OTTAWA — Is the Trudeau administration more secretive than its predecessors?

Direct this question to New Democratic Party members of Parliament and you will get a resounding "yes" in reply. The NDP MPs contend the government is refusing to make public a large number of reports, letters and other documents which should be in the public domain.

In an effort to offset what they think is a deliberate attempt to "cover up," the NDP has placed nearly 300 notices of motion for the production of papers on the Commons' order paper in recent months.

If there is one time-wasting aspect of Parliament that needs revision badly, it is surely the rules governing this particular bit of nonsense. What happens is that an MP will enter a notice of motion requesting the government to table a certain document. Once a week the government indicates whether it will comply with the request. When it complies, the appropriate department tables the document and it becomes public for all to read.

But when there is a refusal, and this happens about 90 per cent of the time, the notice of motion is transferred for debate. Under our creaky Commons' rules, a period of one hour and 40 minutes is allotted to debate on each motion. But this occurs only one day a week, and then for only one hour at a time.

BIG BACKLOG

The obvious result is a tremendous backlog of motions waiting to reach the debate stage and only a small fraction of the hundreds of such notices will ever receive this dubious treatment.

I call it dubious because the debate itself is largely meaningless. In the time-dishonored custom of all governments, backbench government supporters contrive to "talk-out" the motion until the 100 minutes have expired. The motion is then automatically dropped from the list and the House plods on to the next one. The reasons given by the government for refusing to table documents are varied, but usually deal with the confidential nature of the paper requested. The papers are internal working documents never intended to be seen by the man in the street, the government explains.

Some Liberals claim the opposition MPs do not want to see the documents in order to help them make decisions for the good of the country, but are simply engaged in fishing expeditions in the hope of netting some political ammunition they can use at an appropriate time.

Jack Bud Cullen, the freshman MP from Sarina-Lambton, is one who is getting increasingly fed up with the time-wasting that accompanies so many Commons' practices. He suggests the NDP should agree on some priority in the items they want produced and only request those which are of major importance. If this was done, he hints, the New Democrats might be surprised at the co-operation they would get from the government side.

NO WORSE

Granted, the debate for production of papers doesn't take up much of the Commons' time, but even this hour a week should not be wasted in silly charade, particularly when the government constantly falls behind in its legislative timetable. I doubt if the present administration is more secretive than earlier ones. For one thing, literally hundreds of questions placed on the order paper have been answered this session. For another, the government has beefed up the information services of many departments and agencies. And, thirdly, it has established Information Canada, designed to assist Canadians to find out what they want to know about federal affairs.

The NDP might be wise to adopt Mr. Cullen's suggestion in the next session. Or, better still, strive for a revision of the rules to change the present outmoded system.

One small step in the right direction would be a rule allowing each MP only one notice of motion on the order paper at a time, instead of the unlimited number each member can now introduce.

Canadians Tight With Their Money, A Feeling Felt By Many People

By IRVING C. WHYNOT
Canadian Press Business Editor

There's an old feeling abroad in the country that Canadians are tight with their money and won't invest if there is much of a risk involved.

In the business and financial world this type of money supply is known as venture capital—a venture being a risky undertaking or commercial speculation.

The University of Toronto has a seminar on the subject coming up later this month and one of its preliminary research efforts concludes that many of the country's top lenders—banks, investment dealers, insurance companies and wealthy individuals—will invest in such projects if given a chance.

The survey's school of business surveyed about 720 lenders and found only about 15 per cent who said they would not be interested in putting money into the start-up stage of a venture capital project.

SOME QUALITY SUPPORT

The others said they would be willing to put up money, although some qualified their support by saying they were not interested in investing in the development stages.

The survey discovered some interesting findings on the type of project these investors would consider. More than half, for instance, said they would be willing to invest in financial services.

At the bottom of the preference list, only six per cent of potential lenders said they would be willing to invest in the forest-products field.

The university says venture capital has been referred to as the "financial wave of the 70s."

In the last few years, for example, large institutional as well as private partnerships have been organized to make even more capital investments. The number has been growing almost month by month.

Venture capital is being recognized increasingly as extremely important to the future economic development of western countries. This has thrown into enormous prominence people in the field and the techniques used in successful venture capital investments.

The seminar runs Oct. 18-19. For those willing to risk the fee, the cost is $300. Those wishing to play a venture capital game by computer the following day will pay an extra $150.

For investors who have already made their decisions, a seminar at the university during the past week brought some advice.

Dean Levitt of McDonald Currie and Co., a large accounting firm, told a tax forum that a Canadian who has made an investment which shows a profit should consider taking his profits now to avoid the new capital gains tax.

On the other hand, an investment showing a loss could be retained for a while—and could be used as a capital loss after Jan. 1 to reduce tax on other income.

Canadian Stocks Took Beating

By PETER LEICHTNITZ
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The worst price-hammering decline of the year staggered Canadian stock markets last week and left them riddled with issues trading at lows for the year.

A nationwide address by President Nixon on the United States economy was the major factor in decline.

The Toronto market's industrial index, considered a prime indicator of market movement closed Friday at its lowest level since Nov. 25, 1970.

The index dropped 4.89 points to 165.93. Friday, the index recorded its sharpest drop of the year losing 3.33 points.

At New York, the market remained generally unchanged in active trading.

On the Montreal and Canadian Exchanges, the composite index dropped 2.87 points to 172.96.

Combined volume on the two exchanges was 4.63 million shares.

The dominant factor clouding Canada's economic picture is the current U.S. 10-per-cent surcharge on imports.

President Nixon's address made no mention of when this duty would be removed.

"Although no one was expecting Nixon to remove the duty, there was a certain amount of hope he would. His failure to do so was a disappointment and was reflected in the market's performance Friday," one observer said.

The decline stretches Canadian markets' losing streak to five consecutive weeks.

At New York, the Dow Jones industrial average of 30 blue chip issues lost .07 points this week, closing at 893.91.

SELLING FOLLOWS SPEECH

One analyst said the U.S. market was being "weighed down by some profit-taking and selling" following Nixon's address.

Volume on the New York market was 74.21 million shares, up sharply from the 56.94 million traded last week.

At Toronto, a total of 9.04 million shares traded hands, compared with 9.76 million last week.

As the current international monetary struggle continues, with the world's leading trading nations exerting pressure on the U.S. dollar, the effect is an erratic movement in the price of gold.

The result is a decline in gold issues on Canadian markets.

On the week, the Toronto market's gold index suffered one of its worst drops of the year, losing 10.35 points to 158.85, its lowest level since Sept. 30, 1970.

Base-metal issues continued to drift lower, as investors appear to be abandoning that particular sector of the market.

Toronto's base-metal index was down 2.12 points to 77.50, lowest since August, 1965.

Mobil's announcement early in the week that it had an oil and gas flow from one of its discovery wells on the western tip of Sable Island, about 175 miles east of Halifax, sent prices of oil companies with interests in the eastern off-shore drilling sharply higher.

However, the advance was short-lived, and by the end of the week the general downward trend of the market had erased most of the gains.

On the week, the Toronto western oil index was down 4.58 points to 228.31.

Groom's Father Is Soloist At Candelight Ceremony

The groom's father, John W. Ratzlaff of Bassano, Alta., was the soloist when Bonni Janzen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam L. Janzen of Kelowna, exchanged vows with Wayne Ratzlaff, also of Bassano, Alta. Accompanied by Mrs. Genny Bartel of Kelowna he sang "The Lord's Prayer and Abide With Us."

The marriage conducted by Rev. John Stoenz took place in a setting of white and mauve rooms enhanced with candelabra in the Kelowna Mennonite Brethren Church on Oct. 2.

Given in marriage by her father the bride chose a gown of white chiffon with crocheted lace around the collar and cuffs. Sheer chiffon sleeves completed the empire waisted gown and a full-length train attached at the waist added back interest. A long satin bow trimmed the front. A nylon veil edged with French lace misted to her shoulders from a head-dress of three large overlapping bows of matching lace. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white stephanotis.

Keeping the traditional sentiment she wore new pearl earrings, a borrowed single strand pearl necklace and a blue garter.

Ruthie Dickran of Kelowna served as maid-of-honor with Karen Hauff of Vernon and Linda Pestles of New Westminster serving as bridesmaids. Flower girl was Mary-Anne Dueck of Kelowna and ring bearer was Derek Farthing of Kindersley, Sask.

WHITE LACE TRIM

Their identical empire gowns of baby blue were trimmed with white lace at the collars, cuffs and three rows across the bodice. Sheer sleeves and one white bow in front completed the ensembles. Headresses were formed of white daisies with blue centres and they carried bouquets of pink carnations and white stephanotis.

Ted Ratzlaff of Waldheim, Sask., served as best man and groomsmen were Bruce Ratzlaff of Bassano and Bob Verivac of Grande Prairie, Alta. Ushers were Rick Ratzlaff of Calgary, Dan Ratzlaff, Grande Prairie, Brian and Barry Janzen.

A corsage of white and yellow roses harmonized with the yellow crimp knit dress worn by the bride's mother who received the guests at the reception in the Elks' Hall.

The groom's mother wore a two-piece ensemble of gold lurex crimplene decorated with glass buttons in spring green. Peach colored roses formed her corsage.

Keeping the blue and white theme, the three-tiered wedding cake was iced with white and blue flowers and lattice work trim. The toast to the bride was proposed by John Janzen of Kamloops.

A NEW YOU

Janie's Shape-Up Program

By EMILY WILKENS
There comes that time in every girl's life when she would rather stay home typing her brother's law-school applications than go out with "Divine Boy" who is heading to town on sudden notice. A case of sisterly love? Probably not. More likely, it's a case of a figure that's suddenly gone fat where it should be flat. Let calories pile on for a week or two or three and that's what happens.

You can't work wonders on a moment's notice—but you can try. Given 24 hours and plenty of will power, you can do a little something for your figure and a great deal for your morale.

Here's how:

Your menu for your do-or-die day is distilled water—as much as you want to drink. Add 1 teaspoon of lemon juice and ½ teaspoon of honey to each glass. If you like, use the water with the lemon juice and honey to make a cup of refreshing hot tea. Results should appear—or disappear—immediately.

Sans the meals you are used to, you'll just have to sweat it out on your liquid diet. Don a leotard and tights, wrap plastic wrap around thighs, arms, stomach and climb into warm clothes. A sweat shirt plus a heavy sweater will do it. Now turn on a fast record and follow the beat by dancing, jogging, doing push-ups or knee bends, whatever strikes your fancy. Keep going as long as you can, then plop into a cool tub and relax. Take a loofah and scrub your body, paying special attention to elbows, heels and knees. Turn on the shower—cold as you can stand it—and rinse off. This is a good time to wash your hair.

If you simply can't stick with your water fast, a spoonful or two of cottage cheese will get you through the afternoon. Take your mind off food by relaxing for an hour in the beauty angle, feet 12 to 15 inches higher than your head, ice-cold witch hazel compresses over your eyes and forehead.

ANN LANDERS

So Much For So Little In World Of So Many

Dear Ann Landers: I remember when girls owned one Sunday dress and one pair of good shoes that were soled and re-soled until the upper gave out. There were no "teen-agers." (That word was invented 30 years ago.) The transition from childhood to adulthood was not made easy with fads and fun. Young apprentices worked a 48-hour week for a modest sum and when they finished they had a lifetime trade.

Today's youth has been petted, pampered, piled with toys, bikes, transistors, cars, boutique fashions and spending money. They are overschooled and underworked. Despite the boom that resounds from nationwide rock festivals, they are grossly out of tune. They know little of good music or literature or poetry. Their enemy is affluence—not the hard-core wealth of the very rich, but the bountiful pay cheque of the middle-class. They wallow in sugar and spice and everything thrice.

When the fun of youth fades and the years pile up, when indulgent parents are gone, what resources will be theirs? What inner strength to draw on in time of crises? What gifts to give the world? What legacy to leave to those yet unborn? True, elders have criticized "hopeless, frivolous" youth throughout the ages, and the world has gone on, but has any generation ever had so much for so little, in a world lived in by so many?—Musty Reader

Dear Musty: You raise some provocative questions. Does anyone out there have answers? I'd like to see them.

Dear Ann Landers: Does a landlady have the legal right to enter the apartments of her tenants when they are at work or away on vacation? None of us has anything of great value—nor do we have anything to hide—but the idea that this old battle-axe can come in whenever she feels like it and rummage around in the bureau drawers, desk papers, clothes closets (not to mention refrigerator), makes us mad.

We don't want to move, so don't suggest it. The location is ideal and the price is right. What do you say?—The Triplets

Dear Trip: The landlady has the legal right to have a key to your apartment in case of emergency—(fire, flood, etc.) but she has no right to enter unless there is an emergency. Some leases say so. If yours doesn't, perhaps it should—before you sign it next time.

New Uses For Plastic Bags Side Benefit From Pollution

The recent ban on the use of incinerators by apartment buildings in some congested areas has brought about a change in the way that apartment dwellers dispose of garbage. In the past, garbage was pushed down a nearby incinerator chute, casually wrapped. Now, it must be securely contained in a bag and await pickup by the janitor.

Obviously, strong, leak-proof, odor-proof bags are the answer and plastics manufacturers such as Canadian Industries Limited are producing small, medium and large size garbage bags to fill the need.

The bonus is that anyone using these plastic bags for the first time will soon discover that they have many more uses than for containing garbage. In fact, in no time at all they'll wonder how they ever managed without them.

Because the sizes are so convenient, they lend themselves to numerous, "non-garbage" uses. For instance, the canister size 11" x 9" x 22" is ideal for keeping laundry damp, safe from mildew, until ironing time. The "junior" size, 18" x 20", is handy for carrying clothes to the dry cleaners or to the laundry room. And if storage space is limited, the large size, 26" x 36", is perfect for storing blankets or whatever, say, under the bed.

Just one of the good results of new anti-pollution regulations is that we are being introduced to new products, as well as to new practices. Whoever would have thought the day would come when we'd take pride in putting out garbage in attractive yellow, pink, blue, harvest gold, avocado or white plastic bags... gift wrapped!

The word "cabezon" is Spanish for "big head" and is also the name of a fish on view at the Vancouver Aquarium. This creature eats almost any animal that moves, such as abalones, snails, crabs, lobsters and other tide-pool animals.

Underdogs Come Out Ahead Cubs Find Winning Can Be Fun Stamps' Position Threatened Dons Do It Again, Only Better

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Underdog victories in the Western Football Conference during the holiday weekend kept Calgary Stampede from locking up first place and left British Columbia Lions and Winnipeg Blue Bombers tied for the last playoff spot.

Second-place Saskatchewan Roughriders defeated first-place Calgary 24-17 Monday, setting up another game between the same clubs next Saturday in Regina that may decide the regular season champion of the WFC.

Last-place Edmonton Eskimos, who had new players in the lineup, gained their third victory in 13 games with a 22-14 win over Winnipeg Sunday in Edmonton.

Eskimos, with only faint hopes of gaining a playoff berth, are five points behind Winnipeg and British Columbia Lions who have 11 points each with three games to play.

Calgary remains first with 18 points on a 9-4 record out Saskatchewan, whose defensive line stymied the Stamps, is only two points back.

RUNNING GAME LIMITED

The Roughriders line limited the Stamps to 161 yards passing and 33 rushing while Ron Lancaster led the visitors to 151 yards rushing and 246 passing.

The Roughriders, eight points behind early in the game, got a touchdown from Silas McKinnie, two converts and a field goal from Jack Abenschan, a single on a field goal try and a touchdown pass to Al Ford.

Calgary scored the first time they got the ball, quarterback Jim Lindsey marching from the Stampeder 42-yard line and passing 13 yards to Jesse Mims for the touchdown. Larry Robinson made the convert, the 300th of his career.

The Stamps did not score again until the third quarter when Lindsey tossed a seven-yard pass to Rudy Linterman.

Lancaster's two touchdown passes gave him a career total of 187, breaking the record of 185 set by Russ Jackson in 12 seasons with Ottawa Rough Riders.

Rutland Squad Wins Tourney

Doug Fowler's goal midway through the second half resulted in a 1-1 tie for Rutland Teamsters United with Kamloops and all United needed to win the Juvenile Soccer Thanksgiving tournament and the Premier W. A. C. Bennett trophy.

United finished the two-day tournament with one win and two ties, tied for top spot with Vernon with the same record. United won the tourney as they had a 7-4 goals-for-against record compared to Vernon's 7-5. A win for Kamloops would have given them top spot, as they finished with a win, a tie and a loss. Winfield tied one and lost two games.

Teamsters beat Winfield 4-1 in the tourney opener Saturday, then Vernon downed Kamloops 3-1. Vernon and Teamsters tied 2-2 and Kamloops walloped Winfield 8-2 in other Saturday games.

Winfield played the part of spoiler as they tied Vernon 2-2 Sunday.

Ailing Bruins Nurse Injuries

BOSTON (AP) — A few key members of the Boston Bruins nursed injuries today as the team prepared for a return meeting with New York Rangers in a National Hockey League game here Wednesday night.

The ailing included centres Phil Esposito and Fred Stanfield, defenceman Ted Green and winger Don Marcotte.

Esposito aggravated a pulled groin muscle in Sunday's 4-1 loss to the Rangers, but figures to be ready after a couple of days of rest and treatment.

Stanfield has a painful ankle injury, but x-rays Monday failed to uncover any broken bones.

Green is sidelined for at least a week with a pulled muscle, while Marcotte is scheduled to have a series of x-rays to determine the cause of a back ailment.

Yaz Friendship Blamed For Trade

BOSTON (AP) — Joe Lahoud, a part-time slugging outfielder, blames his friendship with Carl Yastrzemski for being traded to Milwaukee Brewers in the Boston Red Sox' 10-player deal with the Brewers.

"The Red Sox thought I was a bad influence on Carl," Lahoud told Bill Kipouris of the Herald Traveller Monday night.

"I was supposedly a bad influence. I even heard this in the clubhouse."

Ironically, Bill Conigliaro, who was platooned with Lahoud most of the 1971 season, blamed the Yastrzemski-Lahoud friendship for costing him a regular job.

In the trade, the Brewers gave up pitchers Marty Pattin and Lew Krausse, veteran infielder-outfielder Tommy Harper and minor league outfielder Pat Skrabble. The Red Sox traded Conigliaro, Lahoud, pitchers Ken Brett and Jim Lonborg, first baseman George Scott and catcher Don Pavlich.

Tabby Goes On Scoring Spree B.C. Lions Lose Pair On Swing

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Tommy Joe Coffey is one season away from becoming the first Canadian Football League player to crack the 1,000-point barrier.

The 32-year-old place-kicking offensive end scored a touchdown and kicked a field goal, a single and four converts for 14 points Monday as Hamilton Tiger-Cats crushed British Columbia Lions 36-3 in an interlocking game.

Coffey's performance Monday moved him into the lead of the CFL's scoring race with 67 points, one more than Gerry Organ of Ottawa Rough Riders, and increased his lifetime points total to 914.

The Ticats have three regular-season games remaining and unless Coffey, in his 12th CFL year, has an incredible finish the 1,000-point mark will not fall until next season.

Ironically, the player closest to Coffey in lifetime points is Jackie Parker, B.C. general manager, who racked up 750 points in 13 seasons with Edmonton Eskimos, Toronto Argonauts and B.C. before he moved to his present post.

The win, before 25,997 Hamilton fans, left the Ticats alone in second place of the CFL standings with 12 points, two ahead of Montreal Alouettes but eight behind Toronto, who clinched first place Sunday when they whipped the Alouettes 33-5.

Ottawa, who dumped the Lions 45-21 Saturday, are two points back of Montreal.

Defensive end John Baker, defensive halfback John Williams and flanker Lewis Porter got Hamilton's other touchdowns Monday with Joe Zuger and Doug Mitchell adding singles.

Ted Gerela's first-quarter field goal that evened the count was the only time B.C. hit the scoreboard.

The Ticats were leading 12-3 in the third quarter when Baker grabbed a loose ball at the B.C. 50-yard line and romped for a touchdown.

Zuger hit Porter early in the fourth quarter with his second touchdown pass of the day; then about two minutes later Williams intercepted a Don Moore head pass and raced 80 yards to cross B.C.'s goal line.

Bucks Trowned By Essos Vernon Squad Hot Property

Vernon Essos got their British Columbia Junior Hockey League season off to a good start at the weekend, scoring an 11-2 win over Kelowna Buckaroos Saturday and a 4-2 victory over Peniticon Broncos Monday. Both were home games.

In Richmond, Doug Sweeting of Vancouver Centennials scored in the last minute of his team's game against Kamloops Rockets Monday for a 4-4 tie.

Chilliwack Bruins crushed Kamloops 9-4 in Chilliwack Saturday.

The Vernon line of Ernie Gare, John Price and Les Salo collected 13 points in the game against Kelowna, while Wayne Dye scored four times. Gare had one goal and five assists. Price scored once and had three assists, while Salo had two goals and an assist.

Gordon Neilson, Jeff Shirley and Bill Bernon completed the rout, while Jeff Robson and Tad Campbell scored for Kelowna.

In the Vernon-Peniticon game, Gare and Price each contributed a goal for the victors, while others went to Ed Johnstone and Jim Lawrence. Ron Poole and Grant Mulvey scored for Peniticon.

In the Vancouver-Kamloops game, Kamloops led 2-0 early in the second period on goals from Gerry Holland and Ken Gassoff. Don Harrison then

UBC Defends Sailing Title

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — University of British Columbia successfully defended its Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union sailing title, dominating the CIAU championships held here over the weekend.

Queen's University of Kingston finished second and Trent University of Peterborough, Ont., third.

UBC's two boats were skippered by Bob Crosby and Mike Snetzer who accumulated only 12 1/4 points in 10 races on Olympic scoring. The lowest point accumulation indicates the better score.

Placings of other teams in order: Royal Military College of Kingston, University of Toronto, York University of Toronto, McGill University of Montreal, College Militaire Royal of St. Jean, Que., and Memorial University of Newfoundland.

Kelowna Cubs had a revealing experience Monday, winning against Merritt and Chase and hope Kamloops losses to North Kamloops and Immaculata.

Cubs mounted their most effective ground attack of the season as they shoved the bulk of the work on Brian Vetter and Roger Carbert. The pair gained over half of Cubs' 312-yard rushing attack, but the aerial route continued to be a problem with only 40 yards.

Vetter scored two touchdowns while Grant Bremner and Jim Warner had the others. Quarterback Randy Kliever converted one major and Carbert another.

Cubs jumped into a 14-0 first quarter lead and increased it to 22-0 by half time, with the final touchdown coming in the final quarter.

Vetter was the workhorse as he carried 17 times for 95 yards, and four yards. Carbert broke away for several long gains as he carried the ball eight times for 99 yards. Jim Warner netted 79 yards on only five carries.

Kliever had only four completed passes of 12 tries for 26 yards, one a two-yard effort to Bremner for a touchdown. Vetter tried seven passes and completed two for 14 yards.

Bremner caught two passes for 22 yards and Warner had one for 15 yards.

Dons scored every time they got their hands on the ball except once, when a mixup in the backfield caused a fumble which they lost.

Jerry Hayashi led the scoring parade with three touchdowns, with two going to Chris Cowan and John Gerk and one each to Brian Brooks, Tom Ehmann and John O'Conner.

Dons, with usually a potent ground attack found the air more to their liking as quarterback Mark Lang completed 12 of 16 passes for 341 yards. Ehmann completed his only try for a 42-yard gain. Of course, there were no interceptions.

Hayashi led the 235-yard ground attack with 137 yards on 10 carries, while Cowan had 43 yards on nine tries and Ehmann 41 yards on nine attempts through the line.

It took Dons a while to score each time they got the ball, as game officials impeded their progress with 170-yards worth of penalties.

PAKISTANIS KILL 79

RAWALPINDI (AP) — Radio Pakistan claims another 79 infiltrators have been killed trying to cross the Indian border into East Pakistan. Government sources said more than 1,000 infiltrators, either Indians or East Bengali rebels, have died since last March against the uprising in the eastern province. However, the government claims have not been corroborated by any independent authority.

Pirates Try To Mend Ailing Pitchers Six Go Under In Birds' Hitting Flurry

BALTIMORE (AP) — Pittsburgh Pirates, their pitching staff worn and torn, returned home for today's third game of the best-of-seven World Series hoping to stall what seems to be a determined Baltimore Orioles march to a second straight world championship.

Steven Blass got the starting assignment today in Pittsburgh after the Orioles had battered six Pirate pitchers for 14 singles and an 11-3 victory Monday for a 2-0 lead.

Brooks Robinson and Frank Robinson each collected three hits in the romp that had the Pittsburgh bullpen relief car operating like a shuttle bus.

The damage absorbed by the Pirate staff was reminiscent of the 1970 series when Cincinnati Reds pitching fell apart and the Orioles won in five games.

But there is another parallel: The Birds took 14-game winning streaks into the World Series both last year and this—11 straight at the end of the regular season followed by three-game playoff sweeps.

The streak reached 17 games before the Orioles lost in the fourth game of the 1970 series and was at 16 today. But the current string doesn't dominate Baltimore's thinking.

"We concentrate on what's next," said Frank Robinson.

"Next for us is the third game of the series. After that, we'll think of the fourth and a sweep."

Frank, who has had five hits in Baltimore's two victories, said that the Orioles approached this series with a quiet confidence that stamps them as a mature ball club.

"We were sure about ourselves before the playoffs and before the series," said Robinson. "But we're not over-confident. We're happy to have won two games but we know we need two more."

"We're a mature ball club. We're professionals. When we get going like this, we're tough to stop."

Smythe Listed As Critical

TORONTO (CP) — Stafford Smythe, president of Maple Leaf Gardens Ltd. and Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, is in "critical" condition today following an emergency operation Monday night, Dr. R. I. Mitchell, Mr. Smythe's physician, said today.

Dr. Mitchell said in an interview Mr. Smythe suffered a "massive hemorrhage last evening on veins and the esophagus."

"Although it appears to be under control at the moment, we are seriously concerned whether his lungs and kidneys will have necessary reserves to recover," Dr. Mitchell said.

Dr. Mitchell said the operation lasted "several hours."

Mr. Smythe, 51, was admitted to Wellesley Hospital last Wednesday with a bleeding ulcer, Dr. Mitchell said, and "was coming along fairly favorably."

The hemorrhage "happened quite suddenly" while Mr. Smythe was still in hospital, Dr. Mitchell added.

Henderson Leads Race With Three Leaf Goals

MONTREAL (CP) — Eleven players were grouped with three points each today following the initial weekend of action in the National Hockey League.

Listed first in the early scoring race was forward Paul Henderson of the Maple Leafs. He held the lead by virtue of his three goals scored as Toronto defeated Vancouver Canucks 3-2 Friday and then earned a 3-3 tie with California Golden Seals in Oakland Sunday.

It took left winger Henderson 13 games to score three goals last season.

In addition to the Toronto-California tie Sunday, New York Rangers beat the Bruins at Boston 4-1; the Black Hawks beat Detroit Red Wings 2-1 at Chicago; Buffalo Sabres proved poor hosts as they defeated Pittsburgh Penguins 2-1; and Los Angeles Kings handed the Canucks their second straight loss at home 4-3.

In four games Saturday, Montreal Canadiens played host to New York and the Rangers earned a 4-4 tie; Minnesota North Stars beat the Red Wings 4-2.

Chicago defeated St. Louis Blues also 4-2 and Pittsburgh edged Philadelphia Flyers 3-2.

2 GAMES TONIGHT

Two games are scheduled for tonight when the Sabres visit the Blues in St. Louis and Philadelphia journeys to Vancouver.

Grouped along with Henderson at the three-point level were Bobby Hull and Chico Maki of Chicago, along with defenceman Carol Vadnais of the Seals. All three had scored two goals and assisted on another.

Forwards Bob Sheehan of California, Rod Gilbert of New York, Wayne Maki of Vancouver, and Ralph Backstrom of Los Angeles all had one goal and two assists to their credit.

Defenceman J. C. Tremblay of Montreal and forwards Walt McKechnie and Tom Williams of California, all had three assists.

In addition to the 11 co-leaders, five other players each scored two goals—Wayne Carle.

of California; Danny O'Shea of Chicago; Danny Grant, Minnesota; and Yvan Cournoyer and Frank Mahovlich of Montreal.

Bryan Watson of Pittsburgh found himself the penalty leader and $150 poorer, the result of game misconduct penalty Saturday, assessed for being fifteen minutes off the players' bench in an altercation, and a 10-minute misconduct penalty Sunday.

"Who's Got The Ball This Time?" Played By Cowboys, Giants

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It was fumble, fumble, who got the fumble in a sloppy National Football League contest that saw 11 turnovers with Dallas Cowboys finally prevailing 20-13 over New York Giants Monday.

"There were so many fumbles it got to where you started looking around on every play wondering who was going to come up with the next one," said Dallas linebacker Leroy Jordan.

Curt Knight booted field goals of 15, 36, 13, 17 and 39 yards to lead the undefeated Washington Redskins to a 22-13 triumph over Houston Oilers Sunday and their fourth straight victory, a feat they had not achieved at the start of a season since 1943, when they made it to the NFL championship game.

In Sunday's other games, Cleveland Browns beat Pittsburgh Steelers 26-17, Detroit Lions edged Green Bay Packers 31-28, Chicago Bears walloped New Orleans Saints 35-14, Los Angeles Rams upset San Francisco 49ers 20-13, Baltimore Colts bombed Buffalo Bills 43-0, Oakland Raiders topped Denver Broncos 27-16, Minnesota Vikings muffled Philadelphia Eagles 13-0, St. Louis Cardinals whipped Atlanta Falcons 26-9, New England Patriots silenced New York Jets 20-0, Miami Dolphins turned back Cincinnati Bengals 23-13 and Kansas City Chiefs overhauled San Diego Chargers 31-10.

12 FUMBLES IN GAME

The Cowboys fumbled seven times Monday and the Giants recovered five. The Giants fumbled five times and the Cowboys collected all five, New York also intercepted one Cowboy pass.

Dallas now is 3-1 and trails the unbeaten Redskins by a full game in the NFL's East Division. The Giants are 2-2.

Dallas took a 13-6 halftime lead on Roger Staubach's four-yard touchdown pass to tight end Billy Truax with 17 seconds left.

But at the half, Dallas coach Tom Landry yanked Staubach for Craig Morton.

Morton hit Bob Hayes with a 48-yard touchdown pass in the third period to give Dallas a 20-6 lead and it withstood a late Giant surge which had Frank Tarkenton whipping a 24-yard touchdown pass to Clifton McNeil to make the final margin respectable.

Rowdy Crowd Not Controlled

MONTREAL (CP) — An official complaint has been filed with the Canadian Football League head office charging inadequate crowd control at the Autostade, home of the Montreal Alouettes, of the Eastern Football Conference.

The complaint was filed Monday by Hap Shouldice, eastern supervisor of league officials, and Myer Insky, a CFL executive from Montreal, as a result of the assault of two officials during Sunday's game between Toronto Argonauts and Montreal.

The officials, Mike Etherington and Blair Shallow, were attacked when they tried to retrieve a ball kicked into the stands by Toronto place-kicker Ivan MacMillan.

The complaint says that the stadium guards did little to protect the officials and restrain the fans in the end zone.

Bourassa Downed In Match Play

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (Reuter) — A magnificent wood out of the trees and on to the green took Belle Robertson of Scotland into the semi-final of the New Zealand women's match-play golf championships Monday.

Mrs. Robertson led Jocelyne Bourassa of Shawinigan Falls, Que., one-up on the 17th when she drove from the rough to land 32 feet from the pin.

Miss Bourassa was already on the green and only three feet from the hole after Mrs. Robertson's wood shot but the Canadian three-putted and the Scottish player won two and one.

Mrs. Robertson will now meet her British team-mate, Mary Everard, a four-and-two winner against New Zealander Gillian Bannan, in the semi-finals.

New Zealander Marilyn Smith avenged her defeat in the Commonwealth match last week against Marilyn Palmer of Kamloops, to enter the semi-finals.

The new Corolla Coupe. It's practically beautiful.

A practical person buys a practical car simply because it's practical. The fact that the car may be ugly doesn't seem to bother him. But it bothered us. "Why can't a practical car be beautiful?" we asked. And then along came our Coupe.

The Coupe is every bit as practical as the ugliest practical car. Only it's not ugly it's beautiful. The steering wheel is simulated wood grain. The bucket seats are high-back and fully reclining. The floor is carpeted. The glass is tinted. The interior is padded. The ride is quiet.

From a practical point of view it gets up to 35 miles per gallon from a powerful 73 hp engine. It has front disc brakes and an electric rear window defroster. It's big enough for a small family, small enough to park easily and priced to fit into the neatest budget.

So now, a practical person can buy a practical car simply because it's beautiful.

Last Of Dudgeons Moves From House

RUTLAND (Staff) — An era as ended with the departure of the last member of the Dudgeon family from the house on Leathhead Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dudgeon built it 50 years ago on land bought from John Rutland, who gave this place its name. Their grandson, Ernest Dudgeon was the last inhabitant of the large house.

Three generations lived in the home. Its majestic English-style hall, open staircase, stained glass windows, large living room with open fireplace, and family-size dining room are reminders of a more leisurely age. The windows are being removed.

Alcoholic Husband Turned On By Pills

By G. C. THOSTESON MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband was a heavy drinker, never a day without it, although he never missed a day's work because of drinking. Then it happened: he was told he had cirrhosis of the liver. He went from one doctor to another trying to convince himself that each one was wrong, and his stomach is so distended it is horrible.

He was given pills and told to take one a day. Well, it's three years now and he hasn't drunk a drop, but he takes three to five pills a day. How he gets them I don't know.

He still works, but a sit-down job. At times he is so stupid looking and talks blah! Then other times (when not sleeping) he is normal. Then at times he turns mean.

Is there something I can get or do to get him off this?—Mrs. M.B.

The medication you mentioned is one of the sedatives, and in this case intended to relax your husband in his struggle to stay away from alcohol. It can have undesirable side effects, and that isn't surprising when he is taking three to five times the amount he was told to take.

In the final analysis, pills won't do it all for him. An alcoholic sooner or later has to make up his mind that he is losing the battle of booze, and his only resource is to stay away from it entirely.

Perhaps by now he can give up this medication and still stay off liquor. But anyone, with too much sedation, can be 'stupid looking and talk blah.'

If he still finds he can't get along without medication of some sort, he might discuss this with his doctor. There are other medications, the best known being Antabuse, which has the property of making the patient violently ill if he drinks any alcohol.

But if he finds he can't cope with his craving without medication, I hope he will consider where he will be with others joining Alcoholics Anonymous who understand his problem because they've been through it. And they know how to help him.

Dear Doctor: This is the fourth identical letter I have sent without seeing your answer in the paper, so I am sending this by registered mail hoping you will receive it.

I have noticed lately that the urine flow is somewhat diminished. Is it due to hypertrophy of the prostate gland? Could it be cancerous? Will the flow remain the same indefinitely or will it continue diminishing? I have no pain and am over 70.—F.A.M.

Nobody can answer those questions without examining you. Enlarged prostate is the likeliest cause; maybe cancerous, maybe not; flow will probably continue to diminish. But instead of asking me to make guesses, see your doctor before the trouble gets worse.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My wife has a tear in her vaginal wall from which the intestine can be seen protruding. Should this not be repaired? What are the dangers of not having it done? She is 60 and in good health, and has had three children.—P.J.M.

I question your description of the problem. She probably has a cystocele, which is a sagging (not a tear) in the vaginal wall. The urinary bladder is contained in the sagging area. This can be readily repaired by what is called a vaginal plastic procedure. Danger in not having it repaired is that under such conditions complete emptying of the bladder does not occur, and the result is risk of a chronic urinary tract infection.

Opening lead—queen of clubs. You can't play bridge by rote and expect the best results. General rules are surely valuable in the play of many hands, but they can never really take the place of independent thought.

Consider this deal where South went wrong. He won the club lead with the king and cashed the ace of hearts. Then he played a low heart to the queen, thus guarding against the possibility of East's having four to the jack. In that event he would be able to lead another heart from dummy and trap the jack. But both opponents followed suit on the second heart, so the precaution proved unnecessary. Declarer now led a spade and finessed the jack, losing to the queen, but he later went down one after West had forced out the ace of clubs. In effect, South scored only the eight tricks he started with.

However, he could have made the hand had he not adopted the "safety" play in hearts. He should have cashed the A-K of hearts and led the ten to the queen, preserving the four in his hand.

He could then finesse the jack of spades and later return to dummy by playing the heart four to the six for a second spade finesse. The finesse succeeding, South would have made nine tricks.

Declarer's handling of the hearts would have been correct had the contract depended solely on making four heart tricks. Where South went wrong was that he lost sight of making the contract while aiming for the maximum number of heart tricks.

He should have recognized that two entries to dummy were needed for two spade leads, and that a 3-2 heart break had to be assumed. There was not much point in trying to protect against a condition that would defeat him if it existed.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Aries (March 21-April 19): It's important now that social ties are kept strictly platonic if they're to be of any use in furthering your ambitions. Jealous, possessive partners can ruin everything.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): There's no room at the top for a prima donna. Show higher-ups that you're willing to do your share of the dirty work to earn an increase in status.

Gemini (May 21-June 21): Your latest burst of creativity can show promise of much talent. Unless you're willing to stick to this project until completion, however, you might as well save your energy.

Cancer (June 22-July 22): In making any improvements around the house, look for ways to get a return on your investment should you move later on. Don't throw your money away on temporary changes.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 23): Rather than being the one to get folks all excited, today loved ones enthusiastically approach you with plans. A new idea doesn't have to be yours to be good.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You can save a considerable sum if you tackle a repair yourself, instead of calling in an electrician to change a light bulb!

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You can become temporarily overcome by the love bug, in spite of common sense. Don't give vital areas of your life that demand attention.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): By refusing to compromise your values, you may be considered noble, but life can get pretty lonely that way. People are attracted by a humaneness, not perfection.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your latest surge of enthusiasm can set a few heads spinning. Not everyone is able to get fired up over a new cause so quickly, so tone it down for the slow starters.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): For some, one of life's greatest joys is spending money, especially when you're working hard to get it. Be sure you keep track of expenditures, though, so you don't land in the red.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You can be all excited over the prospects of a trip or news from a faraway place. If mate doesn't happen to be included in the plans, there could be friction.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Your sincere generosity can be welcomed by a needy soul, but don't dig so deep that you end up jeopardizing your own security as a result.

Today's birthday—You're not the dreamy, slow-paced Libra this year. A new heart interest can be responsible for an abundance of energy and vitality. The unattached could be hearing wedding bells by August.

Muskie Right Says Negro

WASHINGTON (AP)—Charles Evers, black candidate for governor of Mississippi, says Senator Edmund S. Muskie was correct in saying a black could not run successfully for vice-president next year.

Muskie, a contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, told black leaders in Los Angeles last month that he doesn't believe "at this point in history" he could be elected president with a black running mate.

"I don't think a black man in the country wouldn't admit that Muskie told the truth," Evers said Monday in a speech at Georgetown University.

Evers, running as an independent, is mayor of Fayetteville, Miss., and the brother of slain civil rights leader Medgar Evers.

"I'd like to see a black man run for president with a chance to win," Evers said. "But we've got to show we can win at home first."

"Remember, just eight years ago they killed my brother because he tried to get us registered," he said. "Now we've got 91 elected black officials in Mississippi."

Press Must Be 'An Adversary'

BOSTON (AP)—Former in-cam, but the paper notes that senior secretary Walter J. Hickel said in an interview ap. Who Owns America? Hickel, appearing in today's edition of the Christian Science Monitor that Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew, the press must not shy away from criticism of the press and the country's youth.

"Now is no time for the press to get gun shy because of high-level criticism," he said. "That's the worst thing that could happen."

Hickel said the press must be an advocate for "the people who really own America—200 million Americans."

The press must be an adversary, he said, against special interest groups which would exploit the country's resources for their own purposes.

The Monitor says Hickel declined to elaborate on his comments by "high level criticism."

APPALACHIA MINING

Stripping Land Bares Tempers

LOTTS CREEK, Ky. (AP) — Stripping away the land in Appalachia may find coal quickly and cheaply, but the process also bares the angry tempers of the local residents.
Strip mining has led to many a conflict from the hills of Kentucky to the halls of the United States Congress in Washington.
Many Kentucky residents view strip mining as a threat to their survival.
And they resent it all the more because the coal stripped away by the encroaching bulldozers goes primarily to help feed generators producing electricity for big cities many miles away.
"We could care less about people freezin' to death in New York City or Washington, D.C., if they're going to destroy us," says Joe Begley, a Blackey, Ky., grocer and head of the Citizens League to Protect the Surface Rights.

"Them people in New York are already in trouble," Begley says. "Why should we worry 'bout their welfare when they're takin' our mountains and streams? They're destroyin' the last damn place on earth people may hope to exist on."
The demand for energy has spiraled in the last 18 months, partly for coal because of a fear that promises of imminent nuclear power and inexhaustible reservoirs of natural gas are pipe dreams.
The renewed demand has prompted miners to extract the minerals as cheaply and as quickly as possible — by ripping open the land acres at a time. Gargantuan machines enable strippers to mine coal far faster than underground operators.
Now federal laws regulating the health and safety of deep miners also have driven many small coal mine operators to abandon the underground shafts in favor of easier methods.

Strippers don't have to worry about mine-roof supports, dust standards or many of the other requirements imposed on under-ground operations.
But the surge in strip mining has kindled tempers to a degree reminiscent of the mid-1960s, when a n g r y mountaineers fought off coal companies with buckshot.
A Knott County housewife, Bes-sie Smith, and other members of the Appalachian Group to Save the Land and People recently held off bulldozers by sitting in their path near Hazard, Ky.
"One we had the prettiest mountains," said Mrs. Cliff Davidson, the wife of a retired Coal-dale, W. Va., deep miner. "Now they're not fit for a jack-rabbit."
National Coal Association President Carl E. Bagge views the future differently.

"The '70s will be the decade in which coal achieves its natu-ral birthright as the principal energy source for the nation," he told a coal industry conven-tion.
He said 610-million tons of coal, 40 per cent of it stripped, will be mined in the United States this year. Ten years ago, 103 million tons of coal were taken from the ground.
The coal industry predicts that 650-million to 685-million tons will be mined in 1974, half of which will probably be stripped coal.
By 1980, stripping will have tipped up 5.8-million acres, estimates the U.S. bureau of mines. Since the advent of mining in the U.S., 4.2-million acres of the total 11.3-million acres affected by coal mining have been stripped, the bureau says.
Although 22 states have surface mining laws, the bureau figures that only two million acres have been reclaimed in some fashion so far.

Much of the strip mining in Kentucky is done with the help of much-hated broad-form deeds.
Upheld only in Kentucky, the documents allow a company owning the mineral rights to a piece of property to mine the land anytime it wants to, despite the surface owner's objections.
In many cases, ancestors of current land owners traded all mineral rights away forever in exchange for only a few dollars. To soothe the pain, coal com-panies usually pay a token fee to the present land owner, 10 cents a ton of coal or up to 50 cents a linear foot.
Legally, property owners have no choice but to take the money and let the bulldozers rip. But some take the law into their own hands.
When a bulldozer from Pi-oncer Coal Co. roared onto land owned by 76-year-old Katherine Haynes, the driver found him-self staring at a rifle pointed by the woman's nephew, Joe, a dis-abled coal miner.

One thing about daily newspapers:

they make a gal's shopping easier

Many a gal has thanked her daily paper. Why, with a newspaper close at hand, you don't need to trudge from shop to shop searching for the perfect nightie. You just look at the ads. That way, you find out what's available — and where — before you ever leave your doorstep.

And isn't that exactly what most people do? Window-shop through the pages of their daily paper first? According to a survey validated by the Canadian Advertising Research Foundation, 83% of all Canadians use their newspaper as a shopping guide. They know it's a reliable source of information about nationally advertised products and services. A good place to look for values in local stores and shops. So it shouldn't come as much of a surprise that they make most of their buying decisions at home. While reading the paper. Canadians, of course, are subject to a number of other buying influences in the home — radio, television, magazines, etc. But they find newspaper advertising more reliable (41%) and less irritating (92%). And no other advertising has the same profound effect on their buying habits as the daily newspaper. As you might suppose, advertisers know this. They've learned to expect consistently good results from news-paper advertising. So year after year they run more and more ads in daily newspapers. And that makes a gal's shopping easier and easier.

Imports Present Big Problem To Canada's Steel Industry

TORONTO (CP) — Imports are presenting a serious problem to the Canadian steel industry, V.W. Scully of the Steel Co. of Canada Ltd. told a meeting of steelmakers today.

Mr. Scully said Canadian production is roughly equal to domestic consumption, so imports are a particular problem.

"To some extent the import volume is offset by exports. The rub is—largely because of geography—our costs per man-hour are substantially higher than most of our competitors, except the United States."

Mr. Scully, chairman of Stelco, told the International Iron and Steel Institute he doubts the market advantages enjoyed by low-wage producers will last indefinitely.

"Efficiencies and economies of scale, combined with far-sighted technological improvements, must, in the long run, correct the imbalances."

He said the Canadian industry, with a steelmaking capacity of 13.5 million tons a year, has been keeping pace with improvements in the industry. Facilities under construction will increase capacity to 17.5 million tons.

B.C. Reds Urge Jobs For All

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Communist party called on the federal government Monday to provide jobs for all Canadians who are willing to work and to introduce a guaranteed annual income for those who are disabled or unable to find work.

In a statement following a week-end convention, the party also said the natural resources of Canada, when used in the best interests of the whole country rather than foreign-owned monopolies, are more than sufficient to provide every Canadian with an adequate standard of living.

Other resolutions passed by about 100 delegates called for the introduction of a ward system for Vancouver and an end to the provincially-imposed eight per cent ceiling on annual budget increases by school boards.

Guest speaker at the convention was William Kashan, general secretary of the Communist party of Canada who is in B.C. to attend a number of banquets commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Communist movement in Canada.

Atlantic Provinces' Economy Termed 'Abandoned Orphan'

FREDERICTON (CP) — The Atlantic Provinces Economic Council today called for a re-organization of the federal department of regional economic expansion on a regional basis to bring the department "closer to the people it is designed to serve."

The recommendation comes in APEC's fifth annual review of the Atlantic economy which says the department is "an abandoned orphan, shunned by its bureaucratic playmates and supported only grudgingly by Canadian taxpayers."

APEC, a non-profit, non-political organization that promotes the economic and social development of Atlantic Canada, says DREE's record during its first 30 months of operation is "disappointing". It attributes this to the department's structure and approach, its failure to establish and adhere to firm policy lines and "the government's inept handling of the national economy" which has made regional progress difficult.

Transfer of planning, implementation, industrial intelligence and promotion for the Atlantic provinces from Ottawa to a regional office headed by a deputy minister is the main recommendation in the 118-page report.

Under the present setup, there is an assistant deputy minister for the Atlantic provinces and field officers in the provincial capitals.

In the absence of any long-term commitments by Ottawa, APEC says, the provinces regard the department as a "temporary curio-cum-pot" to be plucked as quickly as possible before Ottawa snatches it away."

Egyptian Chief Begins Talks With Soviet Leaders In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — President Anwar Sadat of Egypt begins talks with Soviet officials in the Kremlin today on the new U.S. proposal for an interim Middle East settlement.

Sadat also is believed to be seeking more military hardware from the Russians to counter the possibility that the United States may resume arms shipments to Israel.

The Egyptian president arrived in Moscow Monday for intensive discussion with the Kremlin leadership but delayed the talks until today.

Egypt's official Middle East news agency said Sadat postponed his first session with Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev, President Nikolai Podgorniy and Premier Alexei Kosygin to discuss the U.S. plan with his foreign minister Mahmoud Riad, who conferred last week with U.S. State Secretary William Rogers, arrived in Moscow from New York late Monday afternoon.

The six-point proposal put forward by Rogers last week is aimed at spurring an agreement to reopen the Suez canal, but Rogers emphasized that he considers it a step toward an overall settlement between Israel and the Arabs.

RIAD RESERVATIONS

Riad has strong reservations about an interim agreement, fearing such a temporary solution might turn into a permanent situation that would leave the basic Arab-Israeli conflict unresolved.

In another development, reliable military sources in Tel Aviv reported that two MIG-23s, the Soviet Union's most-advanced warplanes, made their operational debut in the Middle East theatre Sunday with a brief flight near the southwest Israeli coast.

The sources said Israeli aircraft attempted to intercept the planes "and came close enough to make positive identification."

The MIG-23 is reported to have speed and altitude superiority over any operational warplane in the Western arsenal. Its maximum speed is estimated by Western military experts as 3.2 times the speed of sound—2,304 miles an hour—and its top altitude between 90,000 and 100,000 feet.

Japan's Growth 'Cut In Half'

TOKYO (Reuters) — Japan's real economic growth in the current financial year will be nearly halved mainly due to President Nixon's new economic policies, a cabinet spokesman said today.

The cabinet approved a new tentative projection which estimates the real growth at 3.5 from the previous estimate of 10.1 per cent.

The projection submitted by the economic planning agency also predicted that private capital outlays would show little increase from the level of the last financial year owing to Nixon's moves in mid-August and the floating of the yen Aug. 28.

The spokesman said the new a time when the Japanese economy was just beginning to recover from a recession.

LENGTHY PROJECT

The Colossus of Rhodes, an enormous bronze statue, took 12 years to build.

RETAIN SMALL OFFICES

A field office subordinate to the regional office should be maintained in Newfoundland because of distance and "some what different problems." A single Maritime operation should be the goal of regionalization, but APEC says it may be necessary to retain small provincial offices for an unspecified period of time.

Administration, co-ordination and evaluation functions of the department and the Regional Development Incentives Act would remain in Ottawa.

The report says the regional approach would bring about close co-operation between various levels of governments and private business and development of home-grown businessmen. It would also make it easier for the department to participate in more imaginative programs and permit it to co-ordinate its activities in the region.

Seven reasons are given by

STRIPPING LAND BARES TEMPER

"I told him there was no permission," Haynes said. "The company offered her 10 cents a ton or 50 cents a foot... but she told 'em that was no pay for all that timber and farmland."

Nonetheless, a circuit judge later saw it the company's way. Not all property owners think they've been given the short end of the financial stick.

In Henrysburg, Ohio, an elderly man chewing a plug of tobacco conceded he was satisfied with money paid him when blasting damaged his house, but as to the amount: "That's none of your business."

Harassed by vocal conservationists and the news media, which generally have been hostile to strip mining, industry officials are on a campaign to beautify their image.

Some top company executives spend almost half of their time escorting visitors around show-piece reclamation lands. Touring legislators and reporters are treated royally.

'RECLAMATION A JOKE'

Conservationists and mine operators, meanwhile, are polarized over whether gutted land can ever be satisfactorily restored.

"Reclamation is a joke in this state," says Kentuckian Begley. "When I saw the streams go when I saw the beaver go and when I'm seeing the hills go and I'm only 53—what's going to happen in 15 years?"

"Sure, it's as ugly as hell when the mining's under way," counters Don Richter, field director of the Ohio Reclamation Association, an organization formed by mining concerns to handle much of the reclamation work. "But give us a moment to reclaim and we'll show you something that's nice and green."

Pending reclamation, legislation in Congress ranges from a Nixon administration proposal that would set federal standards for state regulations to a bill by Representative Ken Hechler (Dem.-W. Va.), that would ban all coal stripping within six months.

A bill dropped into the hopper by Representative Wayne L. Hays (Dem.-Ohio), would place all strip mining, and reclamation under strict federal control with no state participation.

Under Hays' bill a three-man presidential commission would regulate strip mines, issue licences and place operators under stiff performance bonds.

The bill would prohibit stripping on federal lands such as parks and the commission would be empowered to ban strip mining on lands where reclamation could not be properly achieved.

Hayes' bill also would date the broad form of strip mining in Kentucky.

A handful of states, including heavily-mined West Virginia, have passed laws governing strip mining.

West Virginia's new law prohibits for two years stripping in 22 of the state's 55 counties yet untouched by strip mining.

In Maryland, the General Assembly recently rejected a proposal to phase out strip mining within three years.

Tennessee Gov. Winfield Dunn says he wants a "strong but fair" strip mining bill. However, state legislators are having difficulty settling on what to put into such legislation.

Caouette Breezes To Victory Then Tightens Nuts And Bolts

HULL, Que. (CP) — Social Credit leader Jean Caouette, heard of the invitation, but was not interested. And he said he was not sure whether he would continue wooing Social Credit to join Action Canada in a common front for the next federal election.

Mr. Caouette showed little enthusiasm for the proposal. Mr. Hellyer said it is obvious Social Credit party is a regional party. "This came through loud and clear from the convention."

More than 650 of the 979 convention delegates were from Quebec. The party's only MPs—13 of them—are from Quebec. Social Credit organizers say they are pleased with the convention which they hope will make the party a national force again. The western section of the party died out in the 1968 federal election.

But there are signs the party will have trouble in the western provinces. Francis Porter of Drumheller, Alta., provincial Social Credit vice-president, said the Alberta Social Credit League has refused support for a national party, although he expected this would change at the next provincial convention.

He received 510 votes to 104 for his nearest challenger, Phil Cossette, 42, of Cap-de-la-Madeleine, Que.

DRAW FEW VOTES
Dr. James McGillivray, 42, of Collingwood, Ont., a party vice-president, drew 69 votes while party research director Fernand Bourret, 51, of Montreal got only nine.

In a rousing victory speech, Mr. Caouette told convention delegates and a national television audience: "Trust me, I am your servant for the realization of Social Credit in our country."

Mr. Caouette told reporters Monday he is willing to sign up anyone as a new member as long as he accepts Social Credit policies.

Party vice-president Leonard Albanese of Coquitlam, B.C., said he made the offer of party membership to Mr. Hellyer's executive assistant after the Action Canada leader outlined his movement's policies at the convention Saturday.

Mr. Hellyer said he had not

SHOWS DIFFERENCE

But the lack of support reveals the differences among western Social Crediters over tactics.

Former Alberta municipal affairs minister Alf Hooke told the convention social conservatism was one of the main reasons for the collapse of Social Credit in the last provincial election. He called for a return to original Social Credit principles.

Later in an interview he said former premier Harry Strom appeared to go along with proposals by long-time premier Ernest Manning for a coalition of conservatives including Social Crediters.

Many Social Credit supporters had withdrawn support from the party because it was moving away from original principles.

This division would have to be overcome for Social Credit to make any headway in the West.

Mercury Levels In Lakes, Fish, 'Should Not Be Cause Of Alarm'

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Recent concern over mercury levels in fish and lakes may be unwarranted because mercury levels in human tissues have declined, United States researchers say.

Reporting findings of their study to the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association, the researchers Monday blamed part of the mercury scare on "emotionalism and ignorance."

Their study was done at Saratoga General Hospital in Detroit and involved analysis of tissues taken from human organs at autopsies between 1913 and 1970 and preserved at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

The tissues were taken from the bodies of 59 Michigan residents who had died of causes unrelated to mercury.

The authors said that concern over mercury contamination "had profound social reverberations in the form of mass anxiety leading to . . . action—often with little or no scientific basis—resulting in chaos, fear, and the economic pain of damaged or killed sectors of industry and commerce."

Delicate Phase Now Unfolds In Crisis-Laden Ulster Air

LONDON (Reuters) — A delicate new phase appears to be unfolding in Ireland's struggle to come to terms with its turbulent history.

For the first time, a continuing dialogue aimed at political reconciliation is in progress among all three governments concerned with ending bloodshed and violence in Northern Ireland.

The search for a peace formula is hazardous, beset by difficulties rooted in history and conducted against a background of bombs and bullets.

Many observers view the present three-way process of contacts and consultation as a last hope of averting anarchy or civil war.

The latest stage in negotiations began with the two-day summit meeting in late September among the prime minister of Britain, Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic—the first tripartite top-level talks since 1925.

WANT BRITISH TIE
The Protestants say they could hardly share power with people who want to end Northern Ireland's links with Britain, which they cherish, and reunite Ireland, divided since 1921. The Protestants would also become a minority in an all-Irish republic, losing many of their privileges.

In the tripartite talks, held on Sept. 27 and 29, clear differences of view emerged between Faulkner and Lynch. Faulkner urged Lynch to take stronger action against the IRA on the southern side of the border.

Lynch replied that he was doing as much as he could and for him, the first priority was to end the policy of internment without trial, imposed by the Northern Ireland government on Aug. 9, in an effort to curb a wave of terrorism.

Faulkner said this could only come after violence ended. There appeared to be no easy way to end the deadlock.

Phase Two Of Nixonomics Viewed Coldly By Business

NEW YORK (AP) — The business community reacted favorably but labor was cool to President Nixon's announcement last week of Phase Two of his new economic program.

The president outlined a broad program of indefinite length to follow the current wage price freeze. The program involves supervision to limit wages, prices and rents, but does not call for any direct controls on profits and would allow for some increases in wages and profits.

The president's main objective is to reduce the annual rise in consumer prices to two or three per cent by the end of 1972, or about half of its recent rate. But observers said the ultimate aim of his program is to break the psychology of inflation and the expectations of rising prices.

There was little early comment from labor leaders, although President George Meany of the AFL-CIO said various interpretations of the program "raise serious questions" that must be explored thoroughly.

The president's new program, which goes into effect after the current 90-day wage price freeze ends Nov. 13, will involve a price commission of seven private citizens and a day board of five management, five labor and five public members. There will also be an interest and dividend committee headed by Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur F. Burns.

Wright Patman (Dem., Tex.), chairman of the House of Representatives banking committee, said bluntly the Phase Two program wouldn't work without "some effective controls on interest rates."

The cost of living council, under the chairmanship of the Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, will continue to be the ultimate authority for establishing long-range goals, coordinating wage and price standards and imposing penalties.

Nixon stressed that the success of the program would depend upon the voluntary cooperation of management, labor and the American people. But he also said he intended to establish expanded control machinery backed by legal sanctions to punish offenders.

Although most major business leaders supported the program, there was some dissatisfaction that the president established no concrete guidelines for them to follow. Congressional leaders, while also lending their support, urged the president to take more forceful action to control wages and prices.

One of the president's most outspoken congressional critics, Senator William Proxmire (Dem., Wis.) said the program seemed soft on both wage and price resurgences. Proxmire has introduced legislation proposing his own program for controlling wages and prices. He said Congress must take action at this point "to prevent the president from becoming an economic dictator."

The administration received some heartening news with the report that wholesale prices scored their sharpest drop in five years in September, the first full month covered by President Nixon's wage-price freeze.

In other developments on the business front, President Nixon invoked the Taft-Hartley Act in the dock strike and received injunctions ordering striking Pacific Coast longshoremen and Chicago grain elevator workers back to their jobs.

The president declined to seek a similar court order against striking longshoremen on the East Coast and the Gulf of Mexico because serious collective bargaining had not yet begun there.

Robichaud 'To Stay'

FREDERICTON (CP) — The New Brunswick Liberal party will choose a successor to Louis J. Robichaud at a convention here this weekend but the fiery Acadian, who led the party for nearly 13 years, 10 of them as premier, is not expected to take part.

Mr. Robichaud, 46, won the leadership in 1958 and guided the Liberals to power in 1980 when he defeated the Conservative administration of Hugh John Flemming.

Re-elected in two subsequent elections, his 10-year-old government lost to the Conservatives a year ago and he resigned from politics last spring to become Canadian chairman of the International Joint Commission.

When delegates assembled from across the province Friday and Saturday, the public service status of his new post will prevent him from participating in, or even attending, the convention.

His position also stopped him from campaigning from the Oct. 4 Kent byelection in which the Conservatives cracked a Liberal stronghold and captured the seat the former premier held for nearly 19 years in the legislature.

In spite of the byelection defeat, the convention will be the biggest and probably the most colorful in the province's history with a record 1,760 delegates eligible to attend and vote.
